

Abstract of the Disclosure

A system and method of integrating digital switching amplifiers into systems with low amplitude front-end tuners, among other things, to eliminate shielding and EMI filtering associated with signals, power and ground. An adaptive frequency programmable pulse frame rate digital switching amplifier scheme using either look-up tables or appropriate algorithms, ensures by design, the elimination of critical interference frequency generation.